

Workshop with Martin Strobel

Become a high-performing team player

Nothing has shaped Martin Strobel as much as the sport of handball. In 17 years as a professional, he played a total of 147 international matches for Germany. In 2010, he won the EHF Cup with my team, six years later he was even European Handball Champion and winner of the bronze medal at the Olympic Games in Rio de Janeiro. Today, Martin Strobel works as a coach and shares his many years of experience with his participants. Further development always means learning from others. Without the countless conversations and exchanges with coaches, fellow players and mentors, he would never have been able to develop his full potential as an athlete. He now passes this on and offers you a view beyond the playing field in his various workshops.
