The Team bet

A team bet that brings colleagues together

Your group will be given an extensive list of tasks with a variety of challenges, such as recording a short video, completing a special sports programme, constructing a mechanical device, sketching some team members identifiable by the referee, collecting 10 edible plants from the hotel's own park, performing a magic trick or building a flying object. These are just a few examples that are selected by the game director in advance. This event requires a good portion of team spirit, a good division of labour, a bit of courage and, above all, a lot of fun. At the end, all participants will present their completed tasks to the game leaders and prove that they have mastered the challenges together.
